I suppose you expect me to talk...

Yes, Mr. Bond. I expect you to talk. And play games. And swim. And boil in the hot tub. And consume decadant consuite food and drink. And watch Saturday morning cartoons, and movies. And meet nifty people. And maybe even sing a little.

I don't yet know where we will do these things. It may be at the same hotel we've used these last three years. It may be someplace even more shiny. I have agents who even now are scouting sites for our new lair.

But wherever it winds up being, it will be nifty, Mr. Bond. Bring your gadgets and your debonair suaveness and your martini shaker and especially bring your nifty friends, Mr. Bond.

And enjoy yourself. I insist...muaaaaahahahahahahahahaahahaha!
